

I am writing to ask you to oppose the continuation of funding for and the conduct of research by NIH into creating a combined human-animal being. This type of experimentation goes beyond the mission of government and is a threat to humans and animals. The name CHIMERA comes from Greek mythology and means an uncontrollable malevolent being composed of different animals. Myth is one thing. NIH is seeking to create something that is so opposed to what humans should value. The results of this experimentation are best described as "random". We are not called to corrupt life here on earth. I ask you to object to this research and remove funding for it. Mr. Jonathan Matzinger Lash
