To Whom It May Concern

As Biologists in shock and dismay, we feel compelled to write you. If it is indeed true that you are planning on experimenting by injecting human embryonic stem cells in other animal species, then you have crossed the line of all ethical science and have gone into the realm of science fiction.

We ask you in the name of legitimate science, that you cease and desist this type experimentation.

Sincerely,

Handwritten signatures of Mary C. Anderson and Mark J. Anderson. The signature for Mary C. Anderson is written in cursive and is positioned above the signature for Mark J. Anderson, which is also in cursive.
